This plan describes the foundation’s charitable objectives, activities, income, asset management, grant-making, governance, and public accountability. Registration details and formal ANBI status will be updated when available.

1. Introduction and Mission

Stichting Wuwei Foundation is a Netherlands-based non-profit foundation pursuing international public-benefit objectives. It works in alignment with the wider vision of the Wuwei Institute while maintaining its own governance, accounts, legal responsibilities, and charitable decision-making.

Our mission is to relieve suffering and help vulnerable lives, communities, animals, and living environments grow toward resilience and lasting well-being. We believe that meaningful social progress requires both compassionate outward action and attention to psychological and emotional recovery.

Long-term aspiration: to nurture fragile beginnings into enduring strength and to support pathways from fear and suffering toward dignity, freedom, and well-being.

2. Charitable Objectives

- Provide and support humanitarian assistance, disaster relief, and recovery initiatives.
- Promote mental well-being, emotional stabilisation, trauma-sensitive care, and community resilience.
- Support animal welfare, wildlife rescue, ecological compassion, and responsible care for living beings.
- Provide grants and project funding to qualifying organisations, communities, and changemakers.
- Advance education, awareness, and responsible collaboration in support of the above public-benefit purposes.

3. Core Activities and Charity Execution

3.1 Pillar A - Grant-Making and Project Funding

The foundation acts as an enabling funder. Independent organisations, local communities, and responsible project leaders may submit project proposals. Proposals are assessed on charitable alignment, governance, feasibility, transparency, expected public benefit, safeguarding, and available resources.

3.2 Pillar B - Disaster Relief and Mental Well-Being

During natural disasters, social emergencies, or collective trauma, the foundation may mobilise financial and practical resources. Support may include essential material aid, emotional stabilisation, trauma-sensitive initiatives, and longer-term community recovery.

3.3 Pillar C - Animal Welfare

The foundation may fund or support animal protection, responsible care, wildlife rescue, rehabilitation, ecological awareness, and projects that strengthen compassion toward all living beings.

4. Project Selection and Grant-Making

All funding decisions are made independently by the Board. Submission of a proposal does not create an entitlement to funding. The Board may approve, reject, postpone, or adjust a requested amount based on the foundation's charitable objectives and available resources.

Assessment may include:

- identity, registration, governance, and integrity of the applicant;
- clarity of need, activities, beneficiaries, budget, and timeline;
- public-benefit value, feasibility, sustainability, and risk;
- financial controls, safeguarding, anti-fraud, and anti-money-laundering considerations;
- monitoring arrangements and the applicant's ability to provide evidence of implementation.

Approved grants are documented in writing. Agreements may specify permitted expenditure, payment schedules, reporting duties, safeguarding requirements, audit rights, communications, intellectual-property permissions, suspension, termination, and repayment conditions.

5. Fundraising and Sources of Income

The foundation may receive income through:

- donations from individuals and the public;
- corporate donations and contributions from aligned social enterprises;
- grants from public, philanthropic, or institutional funders;
- fundraising campaigns, gifts, legacies, and other lawful charitable income;
- income generated through activities that remain subordinate to and supportive of the charitable objectives.

No income or assets may be distributed for private commercial gain. Funds are used for charitable activities, grants, emergency response, monitoring, and reasonable necessary operating costs.

6. Asset Management and Use of Funds

The Board manages the foundation's assets prudently, transparently, and solely in support of its objectives. The Treasurer oversees financial administration, banking, bookkeeping, budgets, and reporting. Significant grants and payments require the level of joint authorisation set by the foundation's internal financial procedures.

The foundation does not hold more assets than reasonably necessary for continuity and planned charitable activities. Reserves, where maintained, are documented and linked to identifiable operational or programme needs.

If the foundation is dissolved, any remaining assets will be transferred in accordance with its articles to an ANBI, or another qualifying public-benefit organisation with a similar charitable purpose, as permitted by applicable law.

7. Monitoring, Compliance, and Financial Integrity

Approved grants and relief funds are subject to proportionate monitoring. Recipients may be required to provide regular financial reports, receipts, milestones, photographs, final reports, and other appropriate evidence.

The foundation may conduct document reviews, remote checks, or site visits. Where funds are used for unauthorised, misleading, commercial, or non-charitable purposes, the foundation may suspend or terminate support and seek repayment in accordance with the agreement and applicable law.

8. Governance and Board Supervision

The Board consists of a Chair, Secretary, and Treasurer. The Board sets strategy, approves grants, supervises finances, manages risks, avoids conflicts of interest, and ensures that the foundation acts in accordance with its articles and public-benefit objectives.

Role	Name
Chair	[Full legal name]
Secretary	[Full legal name]
Treasurer	Holly [Full legal name]

Board members perform governance duties voluntarily. They receive no salary, profit distribution, or attendance fee for management work. Reasonable and documented expenses incurred on behalf of the foundation may be reimbursed.

9. Public Accountability and Reporting

The foundation will maintain a clear transparency page containing the information required for its public-benefit and ANBI obligations, including official details, objectives, policy-plan summary, Board composition, remuneration policy, activity reports, and financial accountability.

Annual financial information will be published within the applicable period after the end of each financial year and will include the balance sheet, statement of income and expenditure, and explanatory notes where required.

10. Intellectual Property and Communications

Where funded projects create educational, cultural, or well-being materials, the relevant grant agreement may permit the foundation to use those materials for non-profit communication, education, and training. Ownership and licensing arrangements will be agreed in writing.

The core philosophical frameworks and methodologies of the Wuwei Institute remain the intellectual property of their lawful owner. The foundation does not claim rights beyond those expressly granted in writing.

11. Policy Review

This policy plan covers 2026-2029 and will be reviewed at least annually and whenever material changes occur in the foundation’s activities, governance, financial model, legal status, or public-benefit obligations.
